

PIA CONSULTANTS LIST

Privacy Impact Assessments (PIA) are a crucial tool for clinics to identify and mitigate potential privacy and security risks. The Alberta Medical Association (AMA) has compiled a list of privacy consultants who can assist your community-based clinic with developing a PIA, if you choose to independently hire a consultant.

These consultants and companies are not endorsed by the AMA, nor were they required to provide samples of their work as part of a vetting process.

STEPS FOR SELECTING A PIA CONSULTANT

1. Determine what support is needed with this Self-Assessment Tool.
2. Review the list of PIA consultants and relevant info.
3. Speak to colleagues who have worked with a PIA consultant in the past as great service in the past is the best predictor of future success.
4. Interview a few PIA consultants and complete reference checks (ideally from community medical clinics), especially if the consultant was not referred by a colleague.
5. Select a PIA consultant who is best able to meet the needs you have identified in Step 1.
6. Agree on the terms of the service ahead of time – in writing is preferable (e.g. a service agreement)

QUESTIONS TO CONSIDER WHEN INTERVIEWING A PIA CONSULTANT

1. Do you do a comprehensive review of the clinic's security and privacy context? How is this done?
2. Do you work with clinic physicians or someone in the clinic to complete the PIA? How do you typically inform the whole team.
3. What are your timelines for completing a PIA?
4. What kind of training do you provide?
5. What other services do you (your company) provide in addition to the PIA? Does that cost more?
6. How much do your services cost? Please describe your cost structure.
7. Can you provide references of other physicians you've done PIA work for in Alberta?

DID YOU KNOW?

The AMA offers free privacy training to all community-based medical clinics in Alberta.

This training is tailored to physicians, privacy officers and staff.
